

Titel

Thema:	"The Presidential Elections 2012 and Populist Movements" - Kooperationsveranstaltung mit der US-Botschaft
Veranstaltungsnummer:	11L225301

Inhalt/Beschreibung

Schwerpunkte/Rubrik:	Aktuelle Einzelthemen
----------------------	-----------------------

Allgemeine Informationen

Zielgruppen:	- alle Interessenten
Schularten:	- Gymnasiale Oberstufe
Veranstaltungsart:	Einzelveranstaltung (veraltet)
Gültigkeitsbereich:	landesweit
Leitung:	Christine Junghanns, Landesinstitut für Schule und Medien Berlin-Brandenburg

Weitere Hinweise

Hinweis für Teilnehmer/innen:	Bitte kommen Sie spätestens um 14:45 Uhr zum Sicherheitscheck. Bringen Sie einen gültigen Personalausweis und lassen Sie, wenn möglich, Ihr Mobilfunkgerät zu Hause. Nur angemeldete Personen können eingelassen werden.
Zusatzinformationen:	Programm: Charles Postel, "The Origins of the Tea Party Movement" Kelly Nyks, film maker of "Split" -Documentary Film Showing and Discussion Charles Postel, San Francisco State University, is an award-winning historian of American political thought and society. He is the author of The Populist Vision (2007), a history of the original Populist movement of the 1890s, which received the Bancroft Prize in History and the Frederick Jackson Turner Award from the Organization of American Historians, two of the most prestigious prizes in the historical profession. His new book project is Pursuit of Reform, 1865-1920, a new interpretative work on the post-Civil War reform movements that culminated in the Progressive Era. He is also researching the historical origins of the Tea Party movement. Currently, Dr. Postel is Scholar-in-Residence at the Heidelberg Center for American Studies. Kelly Nyks, is an Award-Winning writer and director of short and feature length films, initiated Split's cross-country investigation. He is also a successful actor who has appeared in numerous feature films. Split: A Divided America is a 2008 documentary film which has been updated in 2011 and portrays partisan divides in American society. It examines a perceived political divide Red- States / Blue States, Conservatives and Liberals, Republicans an Democrats) from the perspective of cultural factor (like religion, urbanization, race and wealth), the modern day media, contemporary campaigning strategies and the "deterioration of civil discourse in our political experience". www.splitdoc.com Programm: Charles Postel, "The Origins of the Tea Party Movement"

Kelly Nyks, film maker of "Split" -Documentary Film Showing and Discussion

Charles Postel, San Francisco State University, is an award-winning historian of American political thought and society. He is the author of The Populist Vision (2007), a history of the original Populist movement of the 1890s, which received the Bancroft Prize in History and the Frederick Jackson Turner Award from the Organization of American Historians, two of the most prestigious prizes in the historical profession. His new book project is Pursuit of Reform, 1865-1920, a new interpretative work on the post-Civil War reform movements that culminated in the Progressive Era. He is also researching the historical origins of the Tea Party movement. Currently, Dr. Postel is Scholar-in-Residence at the Heidelberg Center for American Studies.

Kelly Nyks, is an Award-Winning writer and director of short and feature length films, initiated Split's cross-country investigation. He is also a successful actor who has appeared in numerous feature films.

Split: A Divided America is a 2008 documentary film which has been updated in 2011 and portrays partisan divides in American society. It examines a perceived political divide Red- States / Blue States, Conservatives and Liberals, Republicans an Democrats) from the perspective of cultural factor (like religion, urbanization, race and wealth), the modern day media, contemporary campaigning strategies and the "deterioration of civil discourse in our political experience". www.splitdoc.com

Programm: Charles Postel, "The Origins of the Tea Party Movement"

Kelly Nyks, film maker of "Split" -Documentary Film Showing and Discussion

Charles Postel, San Francisco State University, is an award-winning historian of American political thought and society. He is the author of The Populist Vision (2007), a history of the original Populist movement of the 1890s, which received the Bancroft Prize in History and the Frederick Jackson Turner Award from the Organization of American Historians, two of the most prestigious prizes in the historical profession. His new book project is Pursuit of Reform, 1865-1920, a new interpretative work on the post-Civil War reform movements that culminated in the Progressive Era. He is also researching the historical origins of the Tea Party movement. Currently, Dr. Postel is Scholar-in-Residence at the Heidelberg Center for American Studies.

Kelly Nyk

Anbieter

Anbietername:	Landesinstitut für Schule und Medien Berlin-Brandenburg
Anbieteranschrift:	Struveweg 1, 14974 Ludwigsfelde OT Struveshof
E-Mail-Adresse:	poststelle@lisum.berlin-brandenburg.de
Telefon:	03378 209 0

Termin

Termin:	21.05.2012 15:00 bis 17:30 Uhr
Dauer:	3 Zeitstunden

Anmeldeschluss: 15.05.2012

Veranstaltungsort

Veranstaltungsort:	Amerikanische Botschaft Berlin, Pariser Platz 2, 10117 Berlin
--------------------	---